

Golden Spheres – As the Gift to the Universe

Imagine you have the opportunity, through a work of art enduring for millennia, radiant and immutable, to express your gratitude for your existence and the beauty of our world back to the universe that created you!!!?

"Golden Spheres" by Niclas Castello represents an idea, a gift to humanity, to capture the uniqueness and beauty of Earth through an art piece and to convey the gratitude of each individual for our magnificent planet to the spirit of the universe in a positive vibration.

The spheres symbolize our Earth as a permanent, solid body, through which we exist and our conscious perception of the cosmos becomes possible. Our planet, the sphere, is integrated into the totality of the universe; it has emerged from the universe and has brought forth us, individuals with a consciousness that can now grasp what is above us, the stars and nebulae, from which we came.

Each sphere is dedicated to a celestial phenomenon, an object, a constellation, or a thought that has been projected onto the sky by humans. All the stars, myths, and gods of all times were brought to the sky by humans and look down from there onto Earth.

To realize this vision in the artwork, the artist will hand-finish the surface of each individual sphere. They will be unique and individual, like the respective person whose wish brings this sphere into existence. The shape of each sphere shows the image of the thought and wish inherent in it. The spheres themselves are energies. They are beings that are in motion and find their way to the one who attracts their resonance with the purity of his soul.

Exactly 1,000 of these spheres will be created; they are now being brought into existence in our time and will be connected for all time with the individual from the community of the 1,000 creators. As long as human civilization exists, gold and culture will have value, and the spheres will be passed down like wanderers through millennia of humanity, each in memory of the first, whose wish created it.

Golden Spheres – As the Gift to the Universe

The beauty and sublimity of these ideas are realized with the use of the most beautiful and noblest material. Pure, absolutely pure, fine gold. Each of the spheres will be created from one kilogram of pure .999 gold. The metal will be heated to over 1,000 degrees and cast into the shape of a perfectly round ball. The wish of the person for whom a golden sphere is created today will exist in this unchanged, stable form for millions of years to come and remember him.

All the gold we find on our Earth came to us billions of years ago. It was born in infinite heat and pressure in exploding stars. Stardust, billions of years old, is shaped by the positive spirit and idea of people into a form that thanks the universe from which it emerged!

Gold possesses the highest vibration of metals, it is immutable, and its presence and touch raise the frequency of everything surrounding it. Gold is beautiful and radiant, noble like our blue planet. And yet, gold is the softest metal. It is fragile and malleable, every touch, every contact leaves traces. And here the circle closes. The artwork, the material, and our planet, they are beautiful, unique, and at the same time always changing and extremely fragile. Only our mindfulness and handling in gratitude with these creations will preserve these, the artwork like our planet, for future generations.

A gift from humanity to the universe:

In a time when everything appears to be transient, these spheres are a sign of eternity. They are a gift to the universe, a reminder that, even though we may appear small and insignificant, we still have the ability to create great things. They are a promise that, although everything around us perishes, there are things that will endure forever. It is our way of telling the universe: "We were here. We have loved, dreamed, and created. And this is our eternal gift to you."
